A Palladio Award for Miller Hall

Robert A. M. Stern Architects has won a Palladio Award for designing Alan B. Miller Hall. The Palladio Awards, sponsored by Traditional Building and Period Homes magazine, recognize outstanding work in traditional design for commercial, institutional, public and residential projects.

The magazine, in it's June issue, says of Miller Hall: "Using the rich vocabulary of the Classical language spoken by Colonial architecture, the Stern firm chose a 21st-century dialect to create what [Robet A.M.] Stern calls 'a serious, scholarly, imaginative interpretation of the William & Mary tradition, proportion and scale for a very special site.'"
